About

Every part of my journey has been about growth: breaking limits, moving boldly, and turning purpose into something that transforms both life and work. I live for growth, depth, and alignment, the kind that changes how people see themselves and what they are capable of.

I am Alade Oluwapelumi Mercy and I go by DherbieQuake. Over the past 5 years, I've journeyed through the business space as an entrepreneur, building and leading my B2B and B2C brands in industry such as Fashion, importation, legal registration, entrepreneurship support, and branding.

Premsty and BizVitae have significantly influenced my perspectives and shaped how I see growth, leadership, and impact. Currently wearing multiple hats and learning firsthand what it means to create structure, strategy, and systems that work.

Right now, I manage a dynamic team across different projects, helping brands, businesses and individuals move from just concepts to real, sustainable growth. I'm passionate about mindset, growth, and showing up with purpose because business, for me, isn't just what I do, it's who I've become.

At my core is a mission to help builders and purpose-led minds move boldly with clarity and without limits in life, in business, and in purpose.

Through my work, every experience gathered, every shift survived, and every space held has led me here:

To walk boldly, live purposefully, and grow relentlessly.

I believe growth starts from within. Every project, brand, and story I build reflects the truth that when something within you shifts... everything outside starts to align.

I don't just move through life, I disrupt comfort zones, push beyond limits, and build systems that help people rise inside and out.

Now, I help others do the same

To move with boldness, push beyond limits, live excellently on purpose in life and business

Growth has a sound. It is quiet, personal, and often cluttered.

But when it happens, everything begins to align. The work, the purpose, the vision, and the person behind it all.

This isn't just about me, it is my commitment to lead, build, and inspire from the core where true growth and transformation happen..

What I Do

Growth to me isn't abstract, it is actionable. It is built through strategy, structure and action power. Over time, I've evolved into a multi-dimensional creative and strategist whose work spans across growth, marketing, and business systems.

Beyond the Work

At the heart of everything I do is growth: the kind that begins quietly within and ripples outward into brands, businesses, and lives.

I see my work as a bridge between focus and courage, structure and performance, purpose and transformation.

I don't just build brands, I build bold minds to move boldly and rise.
